

Website Disclaimer and Privacy Policy

Dear Visitor

Information on www.aspree.org was developed from a variety of resources available at the time of publication, with the aim to provide a range of information about the ASPREE study and aspirin research. We endeavor to ensure the information on www.aspree.org is accurate and up to date, however, the information is general and not a substitute for individual professional judgement. As such, ASPREE is not liable for any error or omission on this website or for any injury, loss or damage incurred by reliance on the information on these pages. We recommend that a GP or a physician is sought for medical and health advice. Study participants are always welcome to contact staff at their ASPREE site to discuss study-related concerns.

ASPREE will, in good faith, provide links to third party websites that relate to the ASPREE study for convenience and interest, however, we are not responsible for the accuracy and reliability of information, or the opinions implied or expressed, on these sites.

ASPREE will not share information about its web-users with third-parties. We may collect information about visits to www.aspree.org (such as the pages visited, date, time and duration of the visit) for the purpose of analysis.

ASPREE will never disclose personal information (name and email addresses) of blog subscribers to a third party. Such information is stored in a secured environment and is not available to any other individual or party.
